Creating a Student Account

After you have created an account for yourself, you will need to set up one or more classes and place your students into them.

How to Set Up a Class

On the far right-hand side of the screen, after logging in, you will see a Learning Management Center. Click on the “Add a Class” button to create a new class.

You will be asked to name your class, select the period and grade level, and to select a book for your class. After you have set up your classes, you can create student accounts and place them into your class.

How to Create a Student Account

On the Learning Management Center, click on the “Add a Student” button to create a student account.

First, select which class you want to add students to using the drop down menu. This will load a new page. Then, tell the system how many students you would like to add. Fill in the boxes with the student name and Student ID, if available, and click the “Add” button. This will generate a list of unique student user names and passwords that you can then hand out to your class.

If your district has already set up student accounts, or if your students have accounts from their other classes, you can simply click the “One Log In/Password” button on the “Add Students” screen. This will allow you to import existing students from your school into your classroom by selecting from a list of available students.

From your student’s point of view, they will have only one log in, but your book will appear on their log in screen along with all of their other online books in the system.
